Josh Pope
Quick breakdown of responsive solutions I have implemented

| Desktop |  |
|---|---|
| For desktop, I've created a grid mimicking the design as received. | |
| -- | |
| I am using bootstrap's core row/column methodology to control the layout for each responsive breakpoint. | |
| To illustrate the responsive solutions I have implemented, below are screenshots of each breakpoint- taken in Chrome. | |
| Tested in all modern browsers, and all major mobile OS's available in the chrome emulator. | |

Code and Application Structure

I have built the sass/css files in a modular way- to support further development using modular frameworks like AngularJS (Or React).

I am using Gulp to build out the files- I have included package.json if you'd like to compile the project.
